

Professional History Highlights

Vice President, Cyberspace and Defense Support

Stellar Solutions, Inc.
Colorado Springs, CO

Director of Operations (J3)

US European Command
Stuttgart, Germany

Vice Commander

7th Air Force
Osan Air Base, South Korea

Commander

18th Wing,
Okinawa, Japan

Director

Standing Joint Force HQ
US Northern Command
Colorado Springs, CO

Professional Affiliations

Military Cyber Professional Assoc

Member of Advisory Board

Cyber Security Forum Initiative

Member of Advisory Board

ikeGPS

Member of Advisory Board

George Mason University--Center for Infrastructure Protection

Senior Fellow

Education

BS Mathematics,

United States Air Force Academy

Master of Public Administration,

Golden Gate University

MS National Security and Strategy,

National War College

Punch Moulton is the Vice President, Cyberspace and Defense Support at Stellar Solutions, Inc. He is responsible for the cross-cutting business sector of “Defense Support and Cyber” with a broad portfolio including cyberspace, missile defense, warfighter support, and international defense.

Prior to joining Stellar Solutions in 2012, Punch was in the United States Air Force. As a Major General he served as the Director of Operations (J3) at the United States European Command. In that capacity he was responsible for all operations related to advancing United States interests in the European area of responsibility including enhancing transatlantic security through support of NATO, promoting regional stability, and countering terrorism.

During his 33 year Air Force career, he had assignments as a fighter pilot (T-38, F-5, F-15); commanded at the squadron, group, and wing level; and served in Joint positions at the Pentagon Joint Staff, US Forces Korea, North American Aerospace Defense Command, US Northern Command, and US European Command.

Punch Moulton has over 25 years of successful senior strategic leadership and is skilled at directing and implementing growth and transformational change for both large and pivotal teams. With broad global experience including over three years in Europe and eight years in East Asia, he has an extensive network of defense, government, industry, and international contacts. Punch is a proactive leader with proven executive level success in leading and motivating individuals/units, building successful diverse teams, and directing organizations ranging from small groups deployed to manage crisis situations to the US Air Force’s largest combat wing.

Punch Moulton has unique skills in Innovation Leadership, Crisis Management, Strategic Leadership, Strategic Alliance Building, Financial Management, US Government Interagency Coordination, Cyberspace Operations, Ballistic Missile Defense, Homeland Security, Space Control Strategy, Aerospace (air and space) Strategic Planning, Operations, Policy Development, Special Access Programs, and Information Warfare.