In addition to posting thousands of Arab credit card numbers the internet, now an Israeli hacker can also claim an Iranian death threat to his credit. International Service - Israel's biggest hacker claims to have received death threats from Iran

Israel's biggest hacker, known as Hannibal, claims that a letter was sent to him by the Iranian Deputy Prime Minister" .threatening him with death," Israel National News quoted Israeli Channel 2 as saying, according to Tabnak. has done

:He also published the full text of the threat as follows

If you publish the account information, I promise you will be destroyed. You are under the influence of Israeli .propaganda. You are a stupid Jew

In response to this threat, Hannibal has so far hacked and published nearly 25,000 emails and Arab usernames on .Facebook; In addition, he revealed the credit card numbers of Arab citizens

ways to increase the security of your website 10

Hacker attacks on Internet sites are becoming more and more complex, and so should security issues. As the security complexities of antivirus, firewall, and periodically updated programs become more complex, hackers who see their source of revenue in jeopardy also need to come up with more innovative and innovative ways. As a result, in response to the increase in security, they have gone to war with the security industry with increasing and complex attacks, forcing activists in this field to work and constantly strive to fight in this endless battle

But how do hackers always go one step ahead of security experts? One of the answers is obvious - they have to take more initiative or they will have to give up the profession. Another answer goes back to the organizational structure of hackers - a single hacker working in the basement of his house achieves his goals more creatively and faster than a large and tortuous software company. So a professional hacker is definitely more likely to succeed

However, it can be said that the biggest factor in the continued success of hackers is the lack of awareness and"
".awareness on the part of software users and website owners Sorry professional user, we have to say that there are many people who put their password in the same word "password" (or its English equivalent password) and use this word for all their passwords. There are those who use 2-year-old non-updated antivirus software! If everyone was committed to protecting their data, hackers would have to spend much longer time and more sophisticated methods of hacking, and many of them could not. But with the current situation, thanks to the fact that many people are unaware of their vulnerability, it is easy for hackers to infiltrate and
.attack like playing with numbers

:This article describes 10 effective ways to thwart hackers' efforts
