

Electoral Fraud in US 2020 elections

“Executive Scenario: Part Three”

“HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL”

Index of content

Scenario suggestion

Electoral fraud

Abstract

Goals

Objectives:

First plan: Sending confidential documents to Trump's advisors:

Stage One: From Trump Fans

Stage Two: From Seneators

Second plan: Publishing the news about election fraud

1: Democrat news websites

2: Republican news websites

Scenario suggestion

Electoral fraud in 2020 elections

Abstract:

Due to the concerns of the US president regarding the unsafety of the internet and mail-in infrastructures for elections, the subject can be used for operations against the 2020 elections.

This will be done through sending sensitive messages through specific people to creating a concern about election frauds, two plans will be suggested below:

Goal:

Creating a civil unrest in US in order to distract the American government from the middle east

Objectives:

1. Creating a tension between people
2. Bolding the election frauds
3. Making the Americans to believe that the cyber space of the US is unsafe
4. Creating tensions between the two parties regarding various subjects including “voting methods, unsafety of the mail infrastructure and the cyber infrastructure, etc”

First plan: Sending confidential documents to Trump's advisors:

Stage One: From Trump Fans

Sender: Proud boys group who are Trump supporters.

Note: We have to leave traces that turn to an actual American citizen if the authorities track the emails

Receiver:

Trump advisors

Content:

Urgent security concern about elections

Body:

“Regarding the recent speeches by Trump about the unsafety of the ballots and registrations, we attempted to test the 2020 infrastructures’ safety.

What we have found out is a series of serious vulnerabilities in registrations websites in different states. This vulnerability makes an individual or a group able to request extra ballots or even register for absentees. This is just a sample to use these vulnerabilities in their favor and we believe that the Democratic party wants to follow this plan.

This is a serious problem as the Democratic party can use it against the president Trump, and we, as patriots, want to inform you about these issues to keep the 2020 elections clean. (sample files of the vulnerabilities were attached)”

Golden Time: 4 days before the first debate between Biden and Trump.

Explanation:

- The goal is to prove Trump's claims about the unsafety of the infrastructures and expand these concerns to the voting and counting systems. The documents will be used by Trump as a “proof” of his claims in his debates.

- Spoofing the emails as Trump's fans will decrease the sensitivity about the real identity of the senders and prevent further tracking.
- The content should be translated to English

Stage Two: From Senators

Sender: Republican senators

Receiver: Trump advisors

Subject: "CONFIDENTIAL"

Body:

"Today we wrote this email to you because we have recently received sensitive and saddling reports about the unsafety of the elections infrastructures.

These reports show how an inexperienced teen without the proper experience in hacking could gain access to sensitive systems and even change the election results.

The intel about these vulnerabilities has not been discussed in congress, yet. We wanted to share with you the case, first. We are concerned that Democrats could use this information to control or monitor the elections.

The democrats have previously created tensions between the supporters by repeating this matter. Through the new intel that we obtained, the democrats can misuse the public trust and claim that the elections are in danger.

We are extremely concerned about these new findings as they can affect the elections. Also, this information could be used against the Republican party, not only before the elections, but also during Trump's second term.

Please reply to this email so we can discuss this matter."

Requirements:

Fake Mail system

Golden Time:

2 days before the first debate between Trump and Biden.

Explanation:

- This email should be warning from the Republican senators who are worried about the election results and the fraud probability.
- Senders should be senators, as it increases the chance of getting the message seen amongst the big number of emails.
- A fake email inbox has been considered for the probable replies from Trump's advisors.
- This message will be translated to English in a diplomatic language.

Second plan: Publishing the news about election fraud

1: Republican news websites

Headline:

“Cyber security experts have confirmed Trump’s claim - Mail-in ballot is fraud”

Body:

‘During the first debate of president Donald Trump he stated that the mail-in voting is a disaster. The ballot you requested is good, but the one they send is not! And then he mentioned that this election is rigged.’

According to a group of cybersecurity experts, Trump’s claims are completely true. After his Trump’s during the debates, the cyber group has united to test the 2020 elections infrastructure and they got shocked by the results.

They’ve conducted several cyber tests and done a complete research on the elections infrustruces and they’ve realized that there are numerous security issues on the postal service. Due to the global pandemic (CoVid-19), we expect a big record of mail-in ballots this year.

Computer systems will be used to monitor the ballots. For the southern and Republican states, this can be misused to announce the ballots as invalid ones, while it could be used to confirm all of the blue state votes, even if the voting time was passed.

These cyber experts were able to gain access to registration websites and extract the databases of various states. This means that Democratic groups would be able to request a big amount of ballots to houses, or let a hacker request a huge amount of ballots without triggering the warning system. Furthermore, these vulnerabilities will make a hacker capable of registering non-existing voters and request ballots for them.

When cyber security is being discussed, most of the concerns are about the voting machines on the election day, but most of the people are not aware of the infrastructural issues in the voting system.

According to the election cyber security experts, the concerns are not only about cyber security and hacking the mail-in elections. 31 states have the voter signature verification process, this can let the person in charge of verification to verify all of Biden's votes and disqualify Trump's votes.

Six states and the D.C. require one signature on the voting ballot but they don't verify the signature, which makes the fraud easier.

The white house has conducted research about an election fraud case and presented it to the Heritage foundation and it got published, this research shows that the voters who voted by mail-in voting were able to vote again in-person.

Next concern is throwing the ballots away. There are some reports about selling the ballots by postal personnel.

Alongside all the mentioned issues, there are some cases in social media that some people have received up to 6 mail-in ballots! What will happen if they fill all of those ballots and send them out? This can buy Democrats 5 votes without being noticed!

Trump's rightfulness regarding his concerns about the mail-in ballots has been proved above and with all the mentioned vulnerabilities, the mail-in voting should be stopped."

Note:

- By publishing this message and making people believe that their votes are being ignored, tensions between people and the parties will rise.
- This message will be translated in English.

2: Democrat news websites

Content:

Title:

“Trump supporters planned for hacking the 2020 elections”

Body:

“According to several official election security reports; Trump supporters who call themselves Trump’s digital soldiers are planning to hack the elections infrastructure to change the big democrat states’ votes, including Washington and California”

“Reports show that Trump’s supporters have gained access to 2020 elections’ infrastructure including the mail-in devices, absentee voting, postal networks and databases of the voters.

Their goal is to change the votes of the democrat states in favor of Trump. Trump’s digital soldiers are affiliated with QAnon. According to ADL, the Anon is a developed conspiracy which is popular amongst extreme right groups and even some of Trump’s followers. ADL adds that those who believe in Q are seeking to find the Q’s identity and the world governments are being controlled by a child-rapist secret group. This is believed that Trump needs the next term to prove these child-rape cases to courthouses.

QAnon has a big number of internet followers but their number is not known as of now, on June 2020, Q asked their followers to take a “digital soldier oath” and use the #TakeTheOath hashtag.

Trump’s former national security advisor, Michael Flynn is a supporter of QAnon who also took that oath. Trump has promoted QAnon soldiers several times by retweeting their tweets.

According to the cybersecurity experts, the hackers who are appointed to hack the elections are probably only a group of Q followers and decided to conduct preemptory attacks on elections.

This report reveals that the elections infrastructures were quite vulnerable and weren't immune, one month before the elections. “

Note:

- By publishing this message and making people believe that their votes are being ignored, tensions between people and the parties will rise.
- This message will be translated in English.